KING'S DAUGHTERS RE-ELECT PRESIDENT AND OTHER OFFICERS 1932-33

Mrs. E. J. Leonhard's Services as Head of Local Chapter And Hospital Recognized.

At a meeting of Bay St. Louis Chapter King's Daughters a board of directors and officers for the year were elected, resulting in the re-election of Mrs. E. J. Leonhard as president of the Bay St. Louis Chapter.

This came as recognition of the unremitting service and personal interest she has evidenced throughout the year. Her work for the chapter, of the local hospital and the work in general, has been of that character as to bring the utmost result.

Hospital board of directors elected follows: Mrs. Mary Montgomery, Miss Marjorie Nye, Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau, Mrs. Abigail Bourgeois, Mrs. Kenneth Pepperdene, Mrs. Ralph Rugan, Mrs. E. J. Leonhard.

Officers: President, Mrs. E. J. Leonhard; vice president, Mrs. Winfield Partridge; secretary, Mrs. W. O. Sylvester; treasurer, Mrs. Abigail Bourgeois, (re-elected).

Standing Committee chairmen: Publicity, Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau. Collections, Mrs. Kenneth Pepperdene.

Serving Committee: Miss Margery Nye.

Each of the chairman elected will appoint their own committees.

A summary of the year's work was of much interest. The hospital is the outstanding objective of the Bay St. Louis chapter and how well this has succeeded is well known. During the year a new building was purchased and converted into hospital and many improvements made about the place, all practically paid for. The hospital has served many and the means of saving more than one life in case of emergency. It has truly been a God-send. The hope is expressed that the same loyal co-operation and support given the past year will continue.

PASS CHRISTIAN PASTOR GIVEN BENEFIT SUPPER PARTY AT 'BLUE HEAVEN'

Miss Del Bondio, Assisted By Miss Bertrand, Hostess, to Most Successful Affair In Compliment to Rev. Wm J. Leech, Sunday Evening.

"Blue Heaven," beautiful and hospital home of Miss L. C. Del Bondio and Miss Marie E. Bertrand, on the West Pass Christian Beach, was the scene of an unusually and most pleasurable event, a supper given in compliment to Rev. Father Wm J. Leech, pastor of St. Paul's Church, of that place, who will shortly leave for Europe, to principally visit his beloved Ireland.

For the occasion invitations had been sent out and these were liberally responded to, both in compliment to the hostesses and honoree of the evening.

The supper hours were set from 6 to 9 o'clock, Sunday evening, and long after the time limit friends continued to arrive. There were ample and none suffered for lack of the delicious menu and cuisine that was served.

There was a marked social side to this unusual affair. Here were gathered friends from the entire west section of the coast, intermingling in social greetings and conversation and the occasion also served as a medium of affording that point of contact with those whom we know and possibly do not meet sufficiently often.

Individual tables were served in the living room, dining room and in other attractive cozy nooks of the beautiful home. Four to each table, gave the affair an individually greatly to be desired.

Assisting Miss Del Bondio in receiving the guests were: Miss Bertrand, Miss Hazel Abley, Mrs. B. E. Christovich, Mrs. R. V. Abley, Sr., Mrs. Frank P. Wittmann, Sr.

Girls of the younger school set assisting in serving were Misses Nathalie McCollister, Margaret Wittmann, Rita Lizana, Margaret Farrell, Tony Abley.

As this tribute and benefit to the beloved local pastor was largely a social event, those present were noted among the number the following:

Mrs. B. E. Christovich, Mrs. G. E. Richter, Mrs. Ed. E. Pahey, Mrs. La-

BAY SUNKEN LIGHTSHIP TO BE MOVED BY U. S. GOVERNMENT

Information From War Department to That Effect Received By Local Legion Commander

As a result of a campaign carried on over a period of several months for the removal of the light ship wreck off Bay St. Louis, Commander Laurent Dickson, American Legion Post No. 159, Hancock County, has received a communication to the effect that the well-known wreck and menace to navigation will be removed.

This matter was originally taken up by the Post Commander sometime since and various visits from government officials to Bay St. Louis resulted. At one time it seemed the matter would remain as is, however, further activity in the premises resulted in the following letter, received by Commander Dickson in part.

"Further reference is made to your letter of February 19 concerning removal of a sunken lightship in the Bay of St. Louis, Mississippi. 'I am pleased to advise you that the District Engineer is being instructed to remove the wreck. Signed for the Chief Engineers, V. L. Peterson, Lieut. Col., Corps of Engineers, war department, office of the chief of engineers, Washington, D. C.'"

ROTARY IS HOST TO MARSHALL

Former Senator Carl Marshall Honor Guest of Local Luncheon Club Wednesday Noon.

Honor guest of the club, former Senator Carl Marshall was principal speaker before the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday noon at the Oriole, when a large attendance was noted including a number of special invited guests for the occasion.

Mr. Marshall returned home a few days since from Covington, La., where he spent several weeks resting and the luncheon and meeting Wednesday was not only the regular weekly assembly but was dedicated as a home-coming occasion. The Rotary Club, composed of men from the ranks of representative business and professional men, served as an admirable vehicle for such an occasion.

Mr. Marshall's address was timely. He spoke of political economy and of the many evils into which the country has fallen and the imminent pitfalls which has resulted. The evil of excessive taxation came in for quite a treatise, and in no mistaken terms did he lay the confiscatory inheritance tax of the State.

Delighting many phases of this country's past and present evils in this category, he summed up the possible disaster that might be awaiting the people and country if a halt were not soon at hand.

However, his address was not pessimistic. He dwelt on the present period of stress and told of how the clouds were lifting and already the dawn was plainly above the horizon.

His preliminary remarks were of a most pleasing vein and his closing was an expression of his deep appreciation, as he stated, of the tribute a number of his fellow-townsmen had paid him by according this home-

HANCOCK NEGROES HELD

Charged With Series of Burglary In Harrison and Hancock Counties—Much Loot.

Eight Hancock county negroes charged with burglary in connection with a series of store robberies occurring over the past four months period in Harrison and Hancock counties, were held to the Harrison county grand jury on bonds ranging from $500 to $2500 yesterday following a preliminary hearing before County Judge George Murphy.

Leonard Frederick and Tellis Saucier, two of the five charged jointly with the burglary on March 20 of the Carlos Shaw store at Riceville, were the only ones of the group employing counsel to defend them at the preliminary hearing. They with each of the other colored men accused were held to the grand jury on this charge with bond set at $500 each. Total bonds required of Frederick and Saucier are $2500 each as they are charged with five different burglaries.

Willie Jones, Ivy Gillum and Coon Gillum, the first two of whom signed written confessions of their participation in various store robberies were held under bonds totaling $2000 as there are four charges against each of them. Ivay Gillum repudiated his confession yesterday at the preliminary hearing, declaring that he made the admission following his arrest with the hope that he would "get out light" and be able to "go home and help take care of my blind mother."

Three other colored men, held with bond set at $500 each in connection with one Harrison county burglary, were held under $5000 bond each the day before when given a preliminary hearing in Hancock county on a similar charge in connection with a Lakeshore burglary.

None of the group of eight, whom officers declare constitute a burglary gang, responsible for the theft of approximately $500 worth of merchandise from stores in Harrison and Hancock counties have as yet made the bonds, it was said, and are still being held in the Harrison county jail at Gulfport.

GULF COAST OIL CO. ENJOINED BY STATE; BAY BUSINESS CLOSED

Operation of Selling Halted Pending Adjustment of Excise Tax Claim.

Coast Oil Company (with distributing offices in Biloxi and Bay St. Louis, was enjoined by court order from further operations in Mississippi pending adjustment of a controversy with State Attorney-General Greek L. Rice over the payment of the state excise tax on gasoline.

Under the order the local officers of Harrison and Hancock counties were instructed to impound the gasoline now on hand at the two points to insure payment of the fees claimed.

A restraining order against the company reached the coast in the form of a fiat from Chief Justice Sidney Smith of the Mississippi supreme court. It was issued through chancery court at Gulfport on instructions from the chief justice and at the instance of a petition filed by an agent for the attorney-general.

Bay St. Louis selling station, located in Second Street, near Carroll avenue, is in charge of August Taconi, who received his orders the latter part of last week to sell no gas until that time the company and State would settle their differences. Mr. Taconi is in no way responsible for the suit being filed, as the State charged the Gulf Coast Oil Company, from which concern and source of supply Mr. Taconi makes his purchases.

CARLOAD OF FLOUR ARRIVES

Reached Bay St. Louis Tuesday Night and Distributed To Needy Through Agencies.

Through the instrumentality of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce acting as medium and sponsoring the cause, Hancock County Chapter American Red Cross, of which Geo. R. Rea, of Bay St. Louis, is chairman, brought to Bay St. Louis Tuesday night one carload of flour, to be distributed free to the needy of both city and county.

The carload contained 884 sacks of flour, each weighing 24 1/2 pounds, shipped by the Red Cross organization direct from the flour mills located at a point in Missouri, freight prepaid.

This carload was unloaded and stored in the warehouse of C. C. McDonald, local wholesale dealer, free of charge giving his time and service gratis as well as that of his force who did the work.

Three hundred and fifty families have applied for this flour, through organized church, fraternal, benevolent, charitable and other agencies. One sack is given to small families to two larger ones. A receipt is received for every sack and this in turn turned back to the source of Red Cross from which the flour came.

Another carload is expected at an early date and this will in time be distributed to others and possibly to many of those already assisted and still in need. Of these the bulk of families are not from Bay St. Louis, but principally in the county, including Kiln, Gainesville, Logtown, Pearl-ington and other points, many colored families recipient of this generous succor.

The government gave the wheat to the American Red Cross and the latter in turn had it manufactured into flour to give away to help stressed conditions. It will be remembered the government loaned money to the wheat growers at a ratio of $1.50 per bushel. The crop was quite a success but no sale for wheat, it has declined in price to the present day quotation of 50 cents per bushel. The government was forced to forfeit the wheat.

Director of Red Cross, George R. Rea, has given the matter much of his time and attention and it was through his attention and the matter was well distributed and the most gotten for our people. Mrs. M. Juden, secretary, Chamber of Commerce, ably assisted in the detail and clerical work.

FIRE AT SURDICH GARAGE FRIDAY A. M. ENTAILS LOSS

Building and Contents Carried No Insurance—Cause of Origin Unknown—To Rebuild.

Fire from unknown cause at an early hour Friday morning totally destroyed the garage building of A. J. Surdich, corner Washington and Third streets, including all permanent equipment and tools amounting to several thousand dollars loss.

The building was owned by Chris Reuter, of New Orleans, and carried no insurance, while the contents owned by A. J. Surdich neither carried one cent of fire protection.

In addition to this loss an automobile belonging to A. Benvenuti and another car belonging to Nick Haas, awaiting repairs, were totally destroyed. Neither cars were insured. "The fire originated about 3 o'clock," said Mr. Surdich, "and was discovered by two people passing by, who gave the alarm. How it started I could not say, however, it must have been from some slow burning origin, for when we closed the night previously everything was seemingly well."

"While the tools were not consumed by the flames, they were rendered useless. These are all made of fine tempered steel and fire proved of permanent damage."

When asked if he planned to rebuild again and enter business, he said he would. That the owner of the property was willing that he rebuild and that with some aid he could make a re-entry into business, he said.

Bay St. Louis fire department was promptly on the scene of the fire and prevented the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings. Property belonging to Mrs. Elizabeth Boudin, occupied as a place of residence and business, was badly scorched by the heat and severely threatened.

When you buy a Poppy this year think of the happiness of some disabled war veteran to which you are contributing.

All through the year these men have labored with awkward fingers, over fragments of crepe paper and strips of wire, eagerly forming bright hued poppies.

To those who may not know, it is interesting to read that only those veterans make poppies who receive no compensation, or a very small one, from the government—twisting and shaping poppies to earn enough pennies for clothing, a bit of tobacco, or perhaps to send some little something to the wife and kiddies.

The American Legion Auxiliary will sell Poppies May 28. It has always been the custom never to refuse to sell a poppy, regardless of how small the offer be; just so long as the purchaser has the desire to aid the cause.

It is hoped, however, when Poppy Day arrives the public will see, beyond the crushed bud of flaming paper, shining beacons flashing the way to contentment, self-support and self-respect to hundreds of disabled veterans and their families and give as generously as possible.

The lad was rushed to the King's Daughters Hospital and it was found he had been hurt about the hips, several stitches necessary to be taken. Other lacerations about the face were considered light.

Young Glover was accompanied by his mother at the time and driving at a slow rate of speed. The accident was entirely unavoidable as the child unawares ran out from the sidewalk into the car as it was approaching.

GOOD ADVERTISING.

IT MIGHT help some merchants in Bay St. Louis, to understand more clearly the function of advertising to read what Kenneth Collins, executive of a large department store, has to say in his new book, "The Road to Good Advertising." He points out:

"We have an overabundance of goods. On the other hand, we have a massive reservoir of inactive consumer purchasing ability in our banks. Between the two lies a frame of mind. That frame of mind is, without qualification, advertising's responsibility. Advertising could easily change that frame of mind, but we who write advertising have written the wrong kind."

This lines up with the opinion of Dean Carl W. Ackerman, of Columbia University, who believes that advertising will play a new role as a check against mob hysteria and keep normal economic processes going.

The new rule for advertising is to specialize in facts, not prophecies. Institutions, such as banks, insurance companies, building and loan associations and even churches might find it profitable to carry on what is called "prestige" advertising. The popular lack of appreciation of the services rendered by these institutions can be rectified and a keener appreciation developed through the proper type of advertising.

The Echo is of the firm opinion that even the churches of Bay St. Louis, were they to advertise, (as unethical it might appear) there would be an increase in religious activity. Utterances from the pulpit extend no further than the hearing of congregation present. Proper prestige advertising would multiply the number comprising a congregation and results would be manifold.

The power of newspaper advertising, properly conducted, cannot be overestimated. The printed word is the lasting word and goes out into the highways and byways.

THE TROUBLE AT GENEVA.

THE NATIONS, represented at Geneva by delegates of various sizes, are all for disarmament. They openly and proudly proclaim the fact.

However, the chances for effective agreement at the Swiss capital is practically nil, and one wonders why.

The story is brief, but real. Each nation seeks a form of disarmament that will hurt other nations. The suggestions include our own abolition of offensive weapons, total disarmament and the French idea of security pact. Obviously, the nations will not agree until some of them become willing to surrender something to the common good.

Meanwhile, sight is lost of the immense savings that could be accomplished by each nation if effective disarmament was secured. The tax burden could be lightened everywhere, and this is an end ardently desired by most taxpayers.

MOTHER'S DAY.

THIS SUNDAY, May 8, is nationally designated as Mother's Day in tribute to the one whose affections are lavished most, and it is fitting that at least one day each year is set aside in tribute to that love of one to whom there is enkindled in every human breast a shrine of lasting sentiment.

Every day should be Mother's day. But be as is, it is well the country has set one day above all dedicated to mother. And this Sunday we will observe the day with all the filial respect and love possible in appreciation of the one God has made possible as the instrument of our being.

Mother's Day is an inspiring term, beautiful and sacred.

The man who was recently complaining about winter weather is now taking his flings at the spring.

People who fall out over foolish causes should study the stars; they have been minding their own business for a long time.

It certainly makes one sorry to read about the moving picture stars who have to take salary cuts that put them on a $100,000 a year basis.

One trouble with the political world is that voters give their support to the men who promise them the most and then expect to get it without paying taxes.

The Sea Coast Echo tries to print all communications that it receives from its readers. However, it does not print them as a compulsory obligation, but as a courtesy extended.

Advertisers should appreciate the quality of subscribers as well as the number. The readers of The Echo are, we believe above the average and are quick to respond to trade appeals that are timely.

The dregs say that prohibition caused the recently lamented prosperity and the wets declare that the coming prosperity will be the result of liquor. With that settled, might someone inquire what caused the present depression?

MAD MEN DRIVING AUTOMOBILES

UNDOUBTEDLY the greatest physical menace today is the automobile driven by the demon speedster. Columns in the daily press team with harrowing chronicles of death and disaster at our very doors, if not in our very midst.

All of which can hardly be properly termed accidental. Since mad drivers are plunging through space it would seem like premeditated murder.

Where are these fast drivers heading for? What is the call, the emergency or the occasion? Is someone dying? Or, perhaps, is there a fire at someone's home? Is someone in great peril or lives in immediate jeopardy?

We would rather opine reason has been dethroned for the time being. We see men and boys racing through town and over the highways at a speed exceeding all reason, defying all elements of common sense and respect and rights for others.

Only a few days since the New Orleans press carried a story of a college student whose reckless driving was directly the cause of the death of two small children and a third possibly maimed for life. There is no excuse for this. Through no vindictive spirit, but we hope the youth will be properly punished. He should be put away from his fellow beings.

The remedy would seem to begin with local police. Right in the towns and cities, then on the highways. Much attention is paid to parking and other minor regulations while the speedster is allowed to run amuck. This menace cannot be curbed too early. It is tragic in every tense of the term.

Congress might be able to make faster time if the House of Representatives had a clear idea of what it wants to do.

PROSPECTS FOR THE SUMMER.

IT IS POINTED out by many, and probably true, that this summer will see more visitors to the Mississippi Gulf Coast resorts than usually and that it might be well to prepare for the influx.

This thought is predicated on the theory that many will not wish to journey far because of the expense and more so since we are going through a process of economic effort the like of which has not been equaled.

We are inclined to share in this opinion. It is not only voiced by a few but seems unanimous. The heat of the city drives the populace away, and again, the urge and the lure to "go somewhere" during the summer is ever present and surges within the blood, so to speak.

Bay St. Louis, like the balance of the coast country, is well adapted for the pleasure and comforts of the summer visitor and amply able to care for all who may journey hither.

Many have a predilection for the mountains, but even this becomes monotonous and a change to the seashore is one that is always satisfying and invariably always leaves satisfied to that extent that he or she promises to return again next season.

That section of the coast country, between Clermont Harbor and Bay St. Louis, including Waveland, is tremendously popular, with New Orleans people. This section ever holds its own. Bathing, boating, motoring are only three of the outstanding attractions.

That the people will come to this section this summer in larger numbers we have no doubt. At least, predictions are to that effect.

As long as buyers do not discriminate between reputable and unscrupulous merchants they may expect to get the short end of trading.

MISSISSIPPI'S NEW TAX.

MISSISSIPPI'S newest and latest tax, two per cent gross sales, went into effect midnight Saturday and Monday morning quite likely went into better way.

As objectionable as this tax might be, Governor Conner and a majority of the legislature found its adoption imperative in order to save the State from debt and subsequent evil, an inheritance largely from the preceding administration.

This tax is for a bi-ennial period. At the end of two years it will automatically snuff itself out. How well it will work, how much it will realize remains to be seen.

The fear is expressed that if it should prove a big revenue producer its own success might cause it to be reenacted and remain permanently on the statute books. It has been proven, with rare exception, where money is easily and readily realized from the public it is as easily dissipated. Spent with a prodigality under the guise of public improvement and general betterment, its expenditure is countenanced and finally grief is inevitable.

However, The Echo feels sure, the tax will be assumed in Mississippi in good sportsmanship spirit and the hope is expressed the State's finances will be extricated from its position of thralldom.

May every two-cent each and everyone contributes prove of double value to the betterment of our beloved commonwealth.

BONDS AND MONEY.

ARTHUR BRISBANE, noted editor and columnist, asks "what is the difference between a government bond and money printed by the federal reserve?"

His answer: "No difference, since each gets all its value from the government's promise to pay."

Financial wizards will go into a lot of talk but Brisbane gives you the answer. Of course, there is this difference, which he pointed out; "the people pay interest on the bonds." Odd as it may seem to the man in the street, the government issues bonds bearing interest, sells them to the public or the banks and permits, under strict regulation, the issuance of money, based on the bonds.

Our own idea is that the world has had enough advice to last for at least two thousand years.

Mother's Day

If I could find a rose as pure
As my mother's love was sure,
I'd wear that rose of spotless snow,
That those who saw it there might know
How much my mother meant to me,
How much she means eternally.

My mother's life was like a flower
That broke to blossom every hour.
I knew its fragrance as a child
When all the earth with beauty smiled;
And when the world was clad in gray,
It seemed to sweeten-day by day.

My mother's name was little known
Beyond the circle of her own.
She never dreamed of pomp and place.
She chose to run a modest race,
Contented quite if she could cast
A breath of fragrance where she passed.

Old-fashioned gardens held her heart
Where humble blossoms boomed apart,
Where many a sweet familiar thing,
Like those dear songs she used to sing,
Turned every common-place to good,
Like her own winsome womanhood.

If I could find a rose as white
As my mother's ways were right,
Despite my heart's eternal ache,
I'd wear that tribute for her sake.
I think that it would bring her joy
To see that flower on her boy.

I see her still through blinding tears
Beyond the border land of years.
She is not old and bent and gray,
But fair and young and lithe and gay,
When twilight ends my afternoon,
I hope to meet my mother soon.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS

By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 3.—Well, now we've got around again to that time of the year when some people aren't satisfied with the time indicated on the clocks during the winter.

Chicagoans and residents of other cities were required to shove their timepiece ahead one hour last week. Because of their connections in such cities, Bay St. Louis citizens will be affected whether they have tinkered with their clocks or not. In San Marino, now, they divide the day into four parts of six hours each, the clocks strike only four times a day. And in case you're forgotten, San Marino is the oldest Republic in the world. Yes, yes, I know. It's the littlest republic too. Somebody is bound to remember that. But the clocks of San Marino had nothing to do with it being a small time republic, you'll all admit that.

Ah but the clocks ticked cozily in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Favre during the visit paid it Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. John Hale of Ponchartroula, La. Neither guests nor hosts cared much whether daylight saving or standard time was in effect. Too engrossed were they in other things. Perhaps they talked of how other folks in the neighborhood were faring; of plans made by various clubs; or gardens, taxes and politics. Then I'm safe in assuming that the moments passed all too quickly until the visit had to come to an end.

The lightness of approaching May was depicted in still another way, by the public spirited women who cooperated with Mrs. Geo. R. Rea and the six other members of the committee who sponsored the benefit style show and musical revue staged last Wednesday night. There color and song and dance combined to welcome May, and to say farewell to the cares which came with the first quarter of the year.

While planning the annual Poppy Sale announced in the Echo for last week, Mrs. Laurent Dickson, and her fellow members of the Legion Auxiliary have a good time. People thus engaged always do. Then those who buy the poppies are assured of a feeling happy satisfaction. The proceeds of the sale will be used to make life finer for some one else. This every hour Legion Ladies devote to their work brings blessings that are multiplied many times.

When Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Sick, Sr., of North Beach Blvd., pledged their troth, such a practice as Daylight saving was unthought of. But although precise things like clocks may have been far from their minds, the happy bridal couple may have found a timepiece or two among their wedding presents. Those clocks may still be ticking off the minutes of that long matrimonial voyage, the log of which is now the story of forty three years. No doubt they have measured days of bright sunlight, and days of clouded skies, days of joy and of sorrow. But as they ticked on there has come to Mr. and Mrs. Sick great knowledge and deep satisfaction. The true value of the things of this world have been made plain to them, a wisdom that only passing time can bring.

"No Rotarian is a shirker—on the contrary he is a builder, and a constructive force in his city or town. It is for that reason he becomes a community builder." Thus spoke the President of Bay St. Louis Rotary Club when he presided at the president's breakfast served in connection with the annual Louisiana-Mississippi convention of the organization. That President Moreau had in mind the accomplishments of the unit in which he is proud to have membership was made plain when he concluded his remarks with these pointed words: "Other sections might have their community work, but we challenge any club to do, not better, but more effective work."

I suppose Walker Wood might tell you he had "quite" a time with the metropolitan press which published exaggerated accounts of the plight of Mississippi taxpayers. Then nine negroes accused of thievery in the Kiln neighborhood might say the same thing. Yet their meanings would be quite different. There, I'm getting all mixed up again! I may get used to this daylight saving time sometime.

TOO HIGH

Everything is coming down—except indebtedness and public taxes. Commodity values are cut in two; debts remain unchanged.

The per capita tax of federal government has increased some seven times within ten years.

The average cost of state administration has multiplied more than 100 per cent per year within the self-same period. Local municipal, county and other smaller governmental unit expenses have increased eight times.

The businessman finds that retrenchment is imperative to self-salvation.

The average politician seems to think that public waste is his particular prerogative—to perpetuate themselves—and the public foots the bill.

Taxes and taxes and taxes and taxes—

"The power to tax is the power to destroy."

However, let our leaders bear in mind that destruction of the public means destruction of themselves.

The people are patient—perhaps too patient.

Nevertheless, history is replete with patient people who having been pressed too far, have risen in revolt.

Our leadership, both state and national, may with some profit read the history of the race.—Meridian Star.

CONGRESSMAN HALL'S WEEKLY NEWS LETTER AND NOTES OF COMMENT

President Hoover's Economy Rejected—Hefflin Always Big Drawing Card to the Galleries—Opposition Voiced To Proposed Bonus Payments—Personal and Other General Items.

By Representative Robert S. Hall.
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

CAPITOL HILL, May 2.—The $200,000,000 omnibus retrenchment bill was the paramount issue in the House last week. Drafted by the Special Economy Committee of the House, this measure embraces all proposals for curtailing government expenditures by means of Federal salary reductions, reorganizations of executive and administrative agencies of the government, and other changes.

HOOVER'S ECONOMY PROPOSALS REJECTED.

Many of the economy proposals already have been rejected by the House and other provisions considerably liberalized. The President's plan of furloughs without pay as a means of paring the government payroll was rejected at the outset. The 11 percent salary reduction was approved, but not until after the exemption of salaries had been raised from $1,000 to $2,500. Salaries of members of the Federal Farm Board as well as those of members of similar organizations have been sharply reduced. The President and other officials are authorized to make such reductions in their salaries as they see fit. The economy measure, particularly the pay-cutting provisions, encountered almost as much opposition as did the general sales tax. Chief arguments against it are that it would help out very little in balancing the budget, and that it would disrupt the organization and impair the efficiency of the personnel. The President is authorized to reorganize and revamp bureaus in the various departments, subject to congressional approval; but he cannot alter the status of agencies created by Federal statute.

GOOD-BYE HEFLIN.

Former Senator Hefflin of Alabama has lost his election contest. Before approving the election of Senator Bankhead, however, the Senate permitted Mr. Hefflin to plead his case on the Senate floor. At first he was granted two hours in which to state his case, but this restriction was later removed and he declared upwards of a million dollars had been expended in the campaign against him in 1930, and that there is evidence of numerous other election irregularities. Senator Hefflin always has been a drawing card in the Senate and the galleries were filled to capacity when he made his plea for his old seat.

FAT HARRISON OFFERS AMENDMENTS.

Senate revision of the tariff bill has been approved by the House and sent to the President. The Senate amendments were offered by Senator Pat Harrison. The measure restores to Congress full power to revise tariff duties; authorizes the President to negotiate with foreign governments reciprocal trade agreements, subject to the approval of Congress, and sets up a consumers' council to protect the interests of the public at hearings on tariff legislation. The consumers' council is regarded as a primary important. Hitherto, virtually everybody except the consumers have had a spokesman at all tariff hearings. It is generally believed that the proposed reciprocal trade agreements would pave the way for the tearing down of existing tariff walls which are now so seriously affecting world commerce.

VETERANS' BONUS HEARING.

Hearings on the measure to pay the World War veterans' adjusted compensation certificates continue before the House Ways and Means committee. During the past week many Cabinet members and numerous other high government officials voiced strenuous opposition to the plan. They contended that distribution of two billion dollars at this time would inflate currency too much and that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Glass-Steagall credit expansion act would solve the problem of tight money, if given sufficient time. In the meantime while there has been no abatement in pressure for paying the certificates now. Instead of inflating the currency too much, it is argued that distribution of two billion dollars would hardly restore currency circulation to its status of 1926.

BUSINESS MEN EXPOSED.

The Senate investigation of the Stock Exchange has revealed that professional speculators have been manipulating the stock market through gigantic pools and other devices. Thus far, the probe has revealed the means of many nationally prominent business men who have participated in short selling pools in recent months; and indications are that others will be shown up before the investigation ends.

"CARELESS LADY" A FOX FILM AT A. & G. SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Will Present Joan Bennett
In New Type of Comedy
Role; Cast Headed By John Boles.

Compounded of a number of unexpected situations as a cast of prominent screen names, "Careless Lady" is scheduled to offer a new entertainment at the A. & G. Theatre Sunday and Monday. Joan Bennett and John Boles have the principal roles in this new Fox Film offering.

The story concerns Sally Brown, a highly repressed New England girl, who starts out to see life in Paris. Most of the trouble begins when Sally chooses to pretend she is married only because she has learned that wives have a much better time in the French capital.

The plan works excellently until Sally's supposed husband arrives unexpectedly on the scene. To escape him, Sally hurries back to her home town, but the persistent "husband" follows her under an alias, and the complications among the villagers are said to make the climax a noteworthy affair for screen fans.

Miss Bennett, hitherto considered an appealing ingenue and dramatic actress, reveals in this production an unexpected flair of high comedy. Boles is cast as the unmarried but hopeful "husband," and for the first time in over a year has an opportunity to use his tenor voice in a song.

Weldon Heyburn, Raul Roulien, Minna Gombell and Nora Lane have two as admirers of the rejuvenated Miss Bennett, and the latter has her advisers in matters of love and lingerie. Josephine Hull and Martha Mattox as a pair of maiden aunts provide many additional comedy moments, and John Arledge, J. M. Kerrigan, Maude Turner Gordon, Fortunio Bonanova, James Kirkwood, William Pawley, Richard Tucker and other screen celebrities fill out the distinguished cast.

Kenneth MacKenna, who made "Good Sport" and "The Spider" recently for Fox Films, functions here again as the director. The story is by Rita Lambert, with Guy Bolton writing the screen play and dialogue.

"My work is confining, and often I eat hurriedly, causing me to have indigestion. Gas will form and I will smother and have pains in my chest. I had to be careful what I ate, but after someone had recommended Black-Draught and I found a small pinch after meals was so helpful, I soon was eating anything I wanted. Now when I feel the least smothering or uncomfortable bloating, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief."

CURRENT COMMENT

CURIOSITY is a piper with a tune for every ear. It led a Pennsylvania woman to invest her $300 savings balance in an airplane trip to see the Lindbergh house, and she returned home with five cents. It was not a prudent thing to do, yet recollection of the experience will help her to forget at least ten thousand dollars worth of hard luck.

Everyone knows of ancient and imperial Rome on the banks of the Tiber. Not so many have heard of Rome in the State of New York, a little city that deserves more notice than it has received. Its Chamber of Commerce has asked Uncle Sam to put off the erection of a new post office building, on the ground that the money can be spent for a better purpose just now.

Bob Ingersoll's remains will be transferred shortly to the Arlington National Cemetery in the environs of the Capitol. As an occupant of a soldier's grave, he will attain a celebrity that will command respect.

Adjusting supply to demand is a hard job. A Pennsylvania man sat on his front porch with a rifle and shot at every one who passed and a citizen of New York tried to fall asleep on the brink of Niagara Falls, in the hope that he might fall in and be drowned.

Intelligence tests for voters are proposed in a mid-western state. The authorities may have had to deal with the man who looked over the election returns and remarked that although Smith and Brown each had a lot of votes, Total was elected.

The demand for a verdict of $19,487.50 in a personal injury case, suggests that the fifty cents may represent the actual damage inflicted.

A gentleman who walked upon the platform to address a conference of musicians in Chicago, left a foot print on the sands of time. He denounced crooning as "the guttural offspring of adenoids." The phrase ought to be accepted by this generation in the connection in which it was used, and passed on to the next for use in some future emergency.

How the Railroads Are Fighting Back

In the effort to make ends meet, many railroads have discontinued trains, closed stations, curtailed purchases, reduced wages, laid off employees, suspended dividends.

Such economies have led some to say that the railroads are retreating under fire. That is not true.

Although forced by necessity to exercise the greatest economies, the railroads have also made numerous rate reductions, increased the safety, speed and dependability of trains, introduced new travel comforts, tried out pick-up and delivery of package freight, intensified their sales efforts to improve their earnings.

It is a struggle against odds of unequal regulation and subsidized competition, but the railroads are making that struggle with determination and resourcefulness. They ask and deserve the support of the public.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

SPORTS

Last Saturday afternoon the Rocks went down to defeat at the hands of Laurel's Truck team by a score of 67-34. Laurel came through with a big surprise—everyone conceding that they had a mighty fine track team, but no one believing that they could trim Stanislaus.

"Texas" Linam, holder of the state record for the shot-put, ran into a little exciting competition when he only succeeded in beating Hatfield, Laurel's brawny strong-arm man, by one inch to win the event. However, Hatfield reversed the worm, so to speak, by beating Linam with the discus by more than six feet.

Verlander won the high jump, while Laurel won the mile, hundred, two hundred, low hurdles, and broad jump. Ducasa won the four-hundred and eighty-eight with ease, and Dave Richarme won the high hurdles with yards to spare. The complete data is as follows:

GOPHERS TRIUMPH IN 12TH SET; STANISLAUS CARDINALS DOWN 6-4.

"The Gophers" sensational local nine added another victory to their list when they defeated the St. Stanislaus Cardinals on the latter's diamond last Sunday afternoon, 6-4 in a twelve inning hurlers duel between "Slats" Sandoz of the Cardinals and "Old Aunt Sarah" Seuzeneau of the Gophers. Although out hit 13 to 9 the Gophers hit timely and hard when hits meant runs, while Seuzeneau was very stingy with base hits when runners were on the bags.

The Gophers got to Sandoz for one run in each of the first two innings, but the lanky portlander settled down after that and allowed only six hits in the remaining ten innings. The Gophers won the game in the twelfth by some neat base running. Seuzeneau, first up cracked a single thru shortstop and Monti, first baseman popped out to left field, which Verlander bobbled and Seuzeneau raced to third, Sandoz retired the next two batters to face him, but Kidd (hard hitting backstop) broke up the "hole ball game" with a single to right field, scoring Seuzeneau and Monti with the winning runs.

The Cardinals scored a run in the fourth and sixth innings and counted twice in the eighth to knot the score at 4 all. A squeeze play in the ninth by the Cardinals went bay wire when the Cardinals with runners on second and third failed to hit the ball and the side was retired when he popped out to Blaise at second base.

Verlander's home run in the fourth with none on was one of the high-

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

St. Joseph's Auditorium was the scene of a gala event on Wednesday, April twenty seventh. The occasion was a style show—a very delightful affair. The gowns were from Mr. N. J. Bittar's Marianne Shoppe at Gulfport and were selected with a view to every type. The temporary platform, which entered from the center of the stage out into the audience, was done in black and white, very modernistic, and a fitting background for the lovely display of gowns. We were amazed to discover that the girls of S. J. A. were unusually graceful and gracious models and made the dresses so tempting that many of us in the audience decided that as soon as it would be over we would dash right home and examine our finances—even budget if necessary—and pay a visit to the Marianne Shoppe in Gulfport with a view to increasing our wardrobe.

And what sartorial splendor! We were delighted by the chic sport clothes, charmed by the graceful lines and soft, subtle colors of the afternoon clothes, and fairly dazzled by the splendor and brilliance of the evening gowns. It was truly a collection worthy of praise.

The grand finale was a bridal procession. The bride, Miss Louise Carriere, and her maids the Misses Effie Graham Power, Alice Camors, Ann Partridge, Yvonne Lacoste, lights of the game. Quintini in the field and Kidd at bat were the stars for the Gophers while Loch at first and Artigues behind the bat did the best work for the Cardinals.

These two teams will play again in a return game at the St. Stanislaus College park at 1:30 sharp Thursday afternoon. No admittance charge.

GOPHERS SHADE RAMBLERS SCORE 5-1.

Ray Kidd Pitches No Hit Game. Carl Banderet Gets Three Baggers.

The Gophers made it six in a row by taking a game from the Bay Ramblers last Thursday afternoon at Diamond II at the Stanislaus Stadium. The game was a pitcher's battle until the 5th inning when R. Strong weakened to allow four hits that resulted in the Gophers getting two tallies.

The Gophers wish to arrange games with any team about the age of 16. Teams wishing games should get in touch with Tom Monti, Jr., Bay Saint Louis, Miss.

Mello Nix, Vincennes Favalora, the maid of honor, Miss Genevieve Green and the two little flower girls, Faye Roy and Eva Belle Frague, all looked particularly lovely against a background representing the interior of a church. The ladies of Bay St. Louis, as vested choir, sang the Bridal chorus from "The Rose Maiden."

But besides being pleasing to the eye, the affair was very successful from a financial point of view, netting the sum of $119.70 which was donated to the S. J. A. Gym.

We are indeed grateful to our many loyal friends, who, by their unlimited generosity and untiring efforts, as well as by the liberal offer of their many talents in our behalf, contributed to its success. Especially do we extend our thanks to the Municipal Band, which added greatly to the festivity of the occasion to the Loraine Flower Shop for donating the flowers used in the bridal train, to Miss Margaret Green and Mrs. Geo. R. Rea for their untiring efforts and constant supervision, to Mrs. Thornhill Broome who was a very potent factor in the successful completion, and to Mr. N. J. Bittar, particularly, whose exquisite gowns made the Style Show possible.

MAY QUEEN CONTEST OPENED.

Scarcely has our enthusiasm over an activity—intellectual, social, or charitable—had time to wane before we are caught up in the whirl of plans for a new one and all our efforts are then bent toward making it more successful than anything that has gone before. So with the brilliant and very successful style show still exciting interest as a topic of conversation the month of May ushers in our Festival, a beautiful pageant presided over by our lovely queen—unknown to us at yet—and her court.

The queen is chosen by means of votes, the one lucky enough to obtain the greatest number of votes is queen and the one with the next greatest number of votes is her maid of honor. To be a Lady-in-waiting or a maid in the queen's cottage, it is necessary to have secured a number of votes equal to the sum of five dollars.

We have heard several rumors concerning the Queen to be. Several of the girls seem bent on having themselves proclaimed Queen of the May. Who will the lucky one be? We wonder? However next week's Echo will tell us the tale for the votes will be counted Wednesday and then the whole secret will be out.

Sunday, May 15th has been set as the date of the Festival. The Parent Teachers' Association of S. J. A. has volunteered to sponsor this May Fete. Different committees of the association will take entire charge of the refreshment and other booths which will be part of the festival.

JUNIORS GO DRAMATIC.

Thursday, May 5th at 8 P. M., we will find out what happened to Helen. We have often caught ourselves wondering if we would ever know what was really at the bottom of the whole affair. The ever-active Juniors will present the whole problem in the form of a very delightful play at S. J. A. auditorium for the small sum of 25c for adults and 15c for children.

If you've never cared very much for Helen, if you don't even give a rap what happened to her, if this hasn't even aroused your curiosity, still the slightest bit—then by all means come to the Juniors' play and be amused at "What Happened to Helen."

SOME SENIORS DISCUSSED THE JUNIORS' PLAY.

The current gossip of the first room (now the style show is over) is the forthcoming Junior play "What Happened to Helen," written by none other than the president of that class Evelyn Nix.

Oh look! There are two seniors talking about it now.

First Senior—Well, it looks as though the Juniors are going to put it over.

Second Senior—Yes, they surely have been practicing hard, poor kids, they're bent on really making a success of it.

Enter Third Senior—Hello girls, I hear our younger sisters were up until 10:30 practicing last night. From what I hear that play is going to be a wallop.

First Senior—Who's going to be in it, not all of them, huh?

Second Senior—Ineed, yes. The whole class has a part.

Third Senior—Yes, let's see—Evelyn is Miss Fremont, Carrie, Miss Ross; Ruth, Miss Rice; Theresa takes the part of Miss Mare; Louise, of Miss Marson; Elizabeth of Sadie Black. Who are the rest? I don't remember.

First Senior—There's Lucille, I don't remember whom she impersonates; Yvonne is Miss Stevens; Alma is Helen Abner; Dot is Miss Owen, and Catherine takes the part of Miss Prath. Then Frances, I think is Miss Wilson, and Joyce takes the part of her sister.

First Senior—Gosh! That is nice. Second Senior—It surely is.

Third Senior—Further more the ending is too original for words.

First Senior—Why, how's it going to end?

Third Senior—Believe it or not, by an Epilogue!

First and Second Senior—Not an epilogue!

Third Senior—S-h-h-h—Here's a Junior now—let's scatter!

Mrs. Moody In Form Talks About Matches Allison Replaces Shields

Londos To Fight Lewis The Baseball Outlook Few Golf Stars Abroad.

Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, in exhibition matches in New York City just before sailing for Europe, displayed splendid form and a game that drew from experts enthusiastic praise. One of her contestants was Mangel Olonso, former member of the Spanish Davis Cup team, who ranked in the first ten players until he withdrew several years ago. Alonso won two sets, 7-5, 6-3 and was leading when the third set was halted. He played a surprising game but what pleased the crowd was the stunning force of Mrs. Moody's drives. The day before, Mrs. Moody gave similar evidence of her fitness by defeating Harry Brunie 2-6, and 9-10. Considering the fact that the California star had just completed a four-day trip, her timing was remarkable.

Mrs. Moody took 25 rackets to Paris where she will take part in the French championship contest which begins on May 22nd. She will also play in the Wightman Cup matches at Wimbledon on June 10 and the English championship at the same place when they begin on June 20th. In July she will return to this country to defend her national crown at Forest Hills in August.

Mrs. Moody modestly admitted that the United States "has a good chance of winning the Wightman Cup matches" and was sure that Ellsworth Vines would "give a good account of himself in Davis Cup play." Like other Californians, she took pride in the 20-year old men's championship and stated that if he was eligible to enter in the Wimbledon mixed doubles, she expected to pair with him.

Rather surprising was the elimination of Frank Shields, second ranking player in the country and singles ace in America and European zone play last year. He was replaced by Wilmer Allison, Texas star, in the match play against Canada last week. Shields was regarded as a fixture several weeks ago and Allison was chosen largely as a doubles player, being generally given fourth place on the team when George Lott announced that he would not be available this year.

However, since the team was announced, Allison defeated Vines at New Orleans and again at Pinehurst and later vanquished Shields at White Sulphur Springs. Obviously, he was playing a fine game while Shields was off his form and although Allison ranked several places below Shields in the national rating, the Texan was clearly entitled to play.

After an argument that has lasted for nearly two years, Jimmy Londo and Strangler Lewis have agreed to settle the heavyweight wrestling championship at Los Angeles sometime in July or August. Promoters envisage a $200,000 gate for the Londos-Lewis clash which has created as much talk as the famous match between Gotch and Hackenschmidt at Chicago in 1910.

Of course Henri de Glane, the French-Canadian, claims the title but generally Lewis is regarded as the rightful holder. Sonnenberg acquired the title from Lewis and it passed to Don George from whom Lewis took it back. He is said to be in first class condition and most observers think he can beat any of the present day grapplers. However, Londos, who has been fighting steadily, looks to be in top form and ought to be able to make it a battle.

Beginning on May 5th, the western clubs of the American League invade the eastern clubs and the eastern clubs of the National League begin an inter-sectional series in western backyards. About ten days later, one will be in position to tell something about the Major League races.

So far, Detroit and Cleveland appear to have an edge over their western competitors in the American League, with New York and Washington showing similar superiority to the Athletics and Boston in the east. Most experts admit that New York and Washington have good teams but some doubt the ability of the Detroit Tiger to stand up under the pounding that will come to them when the eastern clubs invade the west. The only way to test this is to wait for the clashes and see what happens.

In the National circuit, the Cubs and Braves set the pace for early weeks but how the clubs will stand in the middle of May is another question. Probably by that time they will shake down and begin to display their seasonal form.

While the United States will present strong competition in the French and British tennis championship matches, no one can say the same about the golf stars who will invade Europe this year. The British open at Sandwich in June will find only

Tommy Armour, defending champion, McDonald Smith and Gene Sarazen at the start. The British amateur at Muirfield, the latter part of May will have only one American, Dave Martin of California, so far as present information goes.

In the women's competition this summer this country will make a better showing with its team of six meeting the picked British squad in an international contest. The American aggregation includes Helen Hicks, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Maureen Orcutt, Mrs. O. S. Hill, Virginia Van Wile, Mrs. Leona Chaney, Marion Hollie and Mrs. Harley Higgie. All of them will probably participate in the British women's championship. The explanation for the absence of male golfers abroad lies in the fact that this is an off-year in Ryder Cup competition and the playing of the Walker Cup matches in the United States.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, expects to make a bid for the English, French and German women's golf titles when she goes over the big pond with the American team. She has displayed splendid form in southern tournaments. Playing in four, she captured four medal prizes, and three championship trophies. She lost the North and South title to her teammate, Maureen Orcutt, when the latter sank thirty-foot puts on the last two greens to win. Incidentally, Mrs. Hill took up golf in a search for health on her doctor's advice after she had passed thirty years of age.

Sore Subject
Mrs. Knagg (with magazine)—"It says here that a South Sea Island wife isn't supposed to talk until her husband speaks first."

Knagg—"I'll bet some of those husbands are fools enough to do it."

ECHOES OF RECENT SHOW AND MUSICAL BY BAY CITY TALENT

Blending of Style Artistry in Dress and Beauty of Harmony in Music, With Intriguing Stagecraft, Gives Bay St. Louis One of its Most Successful Entertainment Presentation in Years.

While The Echo carried a news report of the benefit style show and musical revue, given last Thursday evening in this city at St. Joseph's Academy Gym, by a committee of ladies, there are many names omitted of participants and other items of interest pertaining to the event that will bear writing of the occasion again.

The event will not be forgotten. It was noted for the excellence of its organization, training of voices and artistic presentation. Stagecraft was much in evidence. Scenes were formed to fit each number. There was a special setting for every number and electrical effects and general lighting was professionally worked out.

Mrs. Thornhill Broome, stage director, of Pass Christian, gave her talent and experience for the occasion and not only directed these effective settings but much of the electrical effects were due to her direction, Joseph Sumrall, of Pass Christian, the mechanic and electrician in technical charge.

To Mrs. Leo E. Kenney, whose singing of Gems from the Opera, was delightfully rendered, much credit for chorus work is due her. Mrs. Kenney was an indefatigable worker and her reward must have come on the night of the occasion when perfect unison and rhythm of music was noted.

And to Mrs. George R. Rea, chairman of the committee of ladies responsible for the presentation, goes the lion's share, for it was through her constant and untiring efforts the affair was put over to successful result. Mrs. Rea is vice president of the Mississippi Federation of Music Club and was recently named one of the chairmen of the International Music Federation, and formerly president of the Bay St. Louis Schubert Music Club.

Working with Mrs. Rea as a committee for last week's benefit were Mrs. Edw. Carrere, Mrs. A. K. Roy, Mrs. L. S. Elliott, Miss Margaret Green, Miss Genevieve Green and Miss Elsa Mauffray, assisted by Mrs. Thornhill Broome.

The children's dance (in costume) one will love to remember. This was directed by Mrs. A. K. Roy and the talented young artist, Miss Ruth Ward.

Mrs. Orie Pollard scored a triumph in Indian love songs, "Pale Moon" and "Indian Love Call," with chorus. Mrs. Pollard's part was portrayed with much realism and marked naturalness. Her well-known voice for this occasion was, as usual, at its best.

Equally successful were the two Spanish numbers, "Carissima" and "Lady of Spain," in costume. Names of participants of both the Indian songs and chorus and the Spanish numbers were printed last week.

However, the finale, the climax of the evening was the last number, showing of the bride and her attendants. Miss Louise Carrere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Carrere, was the attractive bride and wore her robe of bride's satin and long veil of tulle illusion with becoming grace and modest dignity.

A vested choir for the wedding scene was effective, presented in a group formation back of the stage space. The chorus from the "Rose Maiden" served as a fitting chorus.

Miss Carrere, as the bride, had as her maid of honor, Miss Genevieve Green. The bride's maids follow: Misses Effie Graham Power, Miss Alice Camors, Miss Ann Partridge, Miss Yvonne Lacoste, Miss Mello Nix, Miss Vincennes Favalora.

Flower girls, Faye Roy and Eva Belle Prague.

Chorus: Mrs. Orie Pollard, Mrs. Edw. C. Carrer, Mrs. George R. Rea, Mrs. A. K. Roy, Mrs. Kenneth Pepperdene, Mrs. L. S. Elliott, Mrs. W. P. Stockstill, Misses Margaret Green, Genevieve Green, Kathleen Renshaw, Elsa Mauffray, Irma Koch.

Mrs. Winfield Partridge, local musician, was musical accompanist.

Bridal bouquets from the Loraine Flower Shop, Pass Christian.

Style Show.

This was well interspersed with the musical numbers. N. J. Eitar of the Marieanne Style Shoppe, at Gulfport, personally directed the style show. There was showing of morning, noon and evening clothes, a wide range of selection and indicated the wide range and effective creations carried by the well-known style shop.

Names of the ladies who served as graceful and effective models follow:

Models—Mrs. George R. Rea, Mrs. Edw. C. Carrere, Misses Margaret Green, Genevieve Green, Irma Koch, Louise Mallard.

Misses Alma Houser, Bernice Johnson, Doris Houser, Catherine Scaffide, Alma Lajeune, Nina Martin, Verna Martin, Theresa Linam, Lois Wolfe, Anna Mae Blaize.

Brides: Maids—Misses Genevieve Green, Effie Graham Power, Alice Camors, Ann Partridge, Yvonne Lacoste, Mello Nix, Vincennes Favalora. Sport—Misses Lizana, Louise Lowe, Katherine Benvenutti.

YOUNG MAN AND WOMAN STAGE BOLD HOLDUPS AT G'PORT

Male and Female Bandits
Secure Money From I. D.
Alfonso and Gersuk
Grocery Company

Two bold holdups were staged in Gulfport Saturday night by a young man and a young woman who did not go to the usual trouble of masking themselves. The first holdup occurred in front of the postoffice and the second about a half hour later in the Gersuk store in the western section of the city.

It was about 9:40 o'clock when I. D. Alfonso, clerk at the Mutual Auto Sales Company, walked out of the postoffice to the yellow Plymouth roadster, which he was driving, when a man stepped from behind the car and putting a gun in his face ordered him to quietly get into the car. A girl companion of the bandit entered the car and Alfonso was sandwiched between the two.

Going out the beach, the car was stopped at Hewes avenue and Alfonso ordered out at the approach of an approaching automobile Alfonso was ordered back into the car and was taken to the end of Hewes avenue, when he was again ordered out after being relieved of $13.85 of his own money. The robbers left with the car.

A half hour later they appeared at the Gersuk Grocery store where the second holdup was staged.

Entering the store from the front, the girl presented a gun and told the clerk to sit down on the floor and be good. The young man entered by the side door with a drawn revolver. The cash drawer was robbed of an unknown amount, supposedly about $100.

Two Gulfport ladies were in the Gersuk store at the time were told to keep still.

Police were notified as soon as possible after the holdups but so far no arrests have been made. The yellow Plymouth car property of the Mutual Auto Sales Company, was found by Officer A. B. Kemp near the Chautauqua building on 21st avenue and the beach. It had a flat tire.

The couple were said to be of medium height and their ages were placed between 20 and 25 years.

Not A Thing To Wear.

Lucille Strong, you don't know her, but she had a date to keep with Judge Harold McConnell in his Chicago courtroom Thursday morning.

When the matron went to Lucille's cell to announce that the good judge was waiting, there stood the prisoner completely disrobed. Her clothing had been flung through the cell door. It was totally inappropriate for such a momentous occasion, Miss Strong declared.

But the matron explained that Judge McConnell expects dates to be kept, clothes or no clothes, that's the kind of a man he is. Then it was hinted that his honor might be a trifle severe on a lady who appeared in her birthday clothes.

Lucille couldn't change her clothes but she did change her mind and donned the old raiment. So the sentence was only ten days.

No Credit To Him

"Your friend tells me he never smokes at his work."

"That's right. He's a diver."

Name Omitted.

Bay St. Louis, Miss., May 3, 1932.
Editor Sea Coast Echo.

In the last issue of The Echo, a somewhat surprising omission was made in reporting the names of the members of Bay Chapter No. 129, who attended the recent Convention of the Grand Chapter of Order of the Eastern Star at Meridian, Miss.

Due to some oversight, the report failed to show that our regularly elected delegate to the Convention, Miss Hilda Sick, attended it. The parties mentioned in the report were Grand Chapter Officers and Pages, of whom our Chapter is proud, but it is equally proud of our Bay Chapter Delegate, Miss Hilda Sick, who did attend the Convention and we are sure represented our Chapter quite creditably. She is our present efficient Associate Matron and was unanimously elected as our Chapter Delegate, when Mrs. Florence Mitchell, the worthy Matron, announced that it would be impossible for her to attend the convention.

In justice both to Miss Sick and to Chapter, we feel that this statement should be made.

(Signed)
One of the Officers of Bay Chapter
129 O. E. S.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

We might as well succumb to the urge of spring and all the good things that come with it. The springtime means asparagus, peas, mushrooms, strawberries, carrots, etc. They are all tonics and should be served frequently during the spring.

Asparagus with Mushroom Sauce.

eggs, asparagus tips buttered, bacon curls, mushroom cream sauce.

On a platter arrange the biscuit with the poached eggs, and pour the mushroom sauce around them. Garnish with bundles of the asparagus and bacon curls.

Carrots and Celery

3 tablespoons shortening, 4 carrots, 1 cup celery cut in pieces, 1 small onion sliced, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, ½ teaspoon sugar, ¼ cup water.

Melt shortening, add onion and brown slightly, wash, scrape and slice carrots, celery, salt, pepper, water and shortening. Cover and steam until tender.

Green Peas and Mushrooms

½ lb. mushrooms, 2 lbs. peas, 4 tablespoons shortening, ¼ cup water, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Shell peas, melt shortening, add mushrooms and sauce for a few minutes. Add peas, salt, pepper, and water. Cover and cook slowly until tender—about 25 minutes.

Stuffed Lettuce Salad

Select a large, hard head of lettuce and trim away the outer leaves, cut a slice from the bottom so it will stand evenly. With a sharp knife cut a circle as deeply as possible all around the top. Remove as much of the inner part as you can. Shred it very fine, then mix with an equal part of diced beets, a few tiny shreds of onions, and half a green pepper shredded. Season well and mix with French dressing or mayonnaise. Fill the lettuce head with this. When serving cut in pie fashion and pass dressing with the salad.

Cream Cake with Strawberry Sauce.

1 cup cream, 1½ cups flour, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons baking powder. Whip the cream stiff, add the eggs and continue beating with rotary beater until very light. Add sugar gradually, beating with wire beater. Add vanilla, and then whip in the dry ingredients, well sifted together. Bake in spring form cake pan in 400 to 450 degrees for 25 minutes. When cool, fill the center with crushed sweetened strawberries, fold into the whipped cream.

PETITIONS FOR RE-INSTATEMENT OF CARL MARSHALL

New Bill Recently Passed House Affords Remedy to Recent Court Decision

Friends of Former Senator Carl Marshall are taking the initiative in the matter of his reinstatement to membership Mississippi bar, under provisions of a bill passed by the present legislature which makes it possible in view of the recent decision Mississippi Supreme Court.

Chief among those busying themselves at the capitol in his behalf is former Lieutenant-Governor Adam, of Pass Christian.

"While Adam has made no statement for publication," says a press intelligence from Jackson, "it is understood in capitol circles that he is accumulating signatures to a large number of affidavits showing why Marshall should be reinstated."

"Activity toward having Marshall restored to the good graces of his bar brothers was begun almost immediately after the legislature adopted the bill reorganizing the Mississippi Bar Association.

"Under terms of the bill regulating the profession, disbarment action such as that directed against Marshall cannot again be taken.

"In the future every disbarment action must be instituted in a chancery court. At the same time the new bill gives Marshall the right to appeal for reinstatement through chancery court at Gulfport.

"He cannot act, however, until the bar association has been reorganized in compliance with the bill. With this reorganization complete, the association could instruct its bar committee to contest his action for reinstatement. It is not considered likely that the association will be reorganized until some time this summer."

the public in general are only too willing to attach their signatures in behalf of Mr. Marshall's success. It is generally felt that Mr. Marshall has been more sinned against than he has sinned, hence, the effort in his behalf is made more in a sense of retribution than a matter of sympathy.

Many express the desire that he will resume his offices in Bay St. Louis again after his re-instatement, which seems most probable.

Edgewater Area of Mississippi Coast Ships Carloads Strawberries

Practically each day shows quite a shipment of strawberries and other soil products from the edgewater area of the Mississippi coast. From Long Beach, center of shipping for the coast, here is one day's report—Tuesday of this week.

Picking and crating of strawberries continued in the Gulf Shore area today, and two carloads of berries were dispatched by the Gulf Coast Strawberry Growers' Association from the Long Beach sheds at prices reported as 20 to 50 cents a crate higher than prices prevailing in Hammond, La., market.

Size and flavor were said by officers of the association to have been determining factors in the fixing of higher prices for the Gulf Shore brand of strawberries, favored by recent heavy rains and subsequent fair and warm weather.

Local sale of overripe strawberries at low prices were reported in considerable volume.

Loading of a mixed carload of vegetables, including radishes, cabbage, beans, new potatoes and turnips, was in progress today, with an Ohio plant given as destination for the shipment.

Fields generally were reported in excellent condition throughout the Gulf Shore area from Lakeshore, in Hancock county, to Vancleave, in Jackson county.
